Spelling
Grammar
Semantic

Students doing part-time job has become a trend recently. Some students find a part-time job for they want to help their parents. Their family's finance situation forced them to do so. They have to work in order to reduce their parents burden on their tuition or something else. Other students do a part-time job not because their family's finance situation, but they need to buy things the want such as basketball shoes, smartphone or luxurious product. Their parents think these aren't necessary things but they still want to buy them. So they find a part-time hob. Still others do a part-time job in sake of they want to increase their social experiences. They want to get in touch with the society earlier and can learn a lot of things while working such as how to interact with costumers, boss, and colleagues, or how to deal with tricky problems they encountering at work.

[GRA] doing part-time
[GRA] their parents'
[GRA] their tuition o
[SPE] for the sake of
[SPE] part-time job
[SPE] customers